

“Environmental Pollution and Chronic Kidney Disease in NCP, Sri Lanka”

At the Senate, University of Peradeniya, on 20th November 2013, 09.00 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.

The chronic kidney disease initially emerged in Anuradhapura district about twenty years back, is now surfacing in other parts of the country affecting people of all ages irrespective of gender. The WHO/ NSF assisted researchers claim that approximately 15% of the population in the North Central Province in Sri Lanka are suffering from kidney disease of multi factorial origin.
